II. DESCRIPTION:

Evaluation of the different theories, research methods, principles and instruments that give direction to scientific research applied to business administration.

III. OBJECTIVES

At the end of the course, it is expected that student can:

1. Describe the concepts and practices of research methods with respect to social sciences, en particular economics and managements.
2. Relate the innovation and diversity to the practices and research.
3. Describe the process to conduct research.
4. Evaluate the relation between theory and research.
5. Evaluate the key methods in management research.
6. Evaluate the philosophical dispute in management research.

IV. CONTENT

I. Introduction to social sciences research.
   a. Normative and positive research methods.
   b. Source of data: Primary and secondary data.
II. Innovation and diversity in management research.
   a. Actual practices in management research.
   b. Management research process and management development.

III. Starting management research.
   a. Source of research topics.
   b. Availability of data.
   c. Adequacy of research methods.
   d. Limitation of research.
   e. Characteristics of adequate “good” research.

IV. Theory and research.
   a. Theories and Hypothesis.
   b. Theory and management control.
   c. Deduction method and induction method.

V. Methods commonly used in management research.
   a. Experiment research design.
   b. Action research.
   c. Survey research design.
   d. Qualitative methodology (the case of ethnography).
   e. Statistical inferences in quantitative research.

VI. Philosophical dispute in management research.
   a. The factors that influence observation implications (epistemology) and the status of social reality (ontology).
   b. Aspects of ethics in conducting research
   c. Positivism, neo-empiricism, and critical realism.

V. Activities:
   1. Students should read the material before the discussion in class.
   2. Students are required to search for some topics, literature, and financial practices in the internet to select their research questions that are part of the evaluation.
   3. Presentations of the selected topics in class individually or in small groups.
VI. Evaluation

*The research topics should be analyzed in a critical manner with appropriate references. Also, should satisfy the course objectives. The minimum acceptable work is 3,000 words and the maximum not to exceed 5,000 words. APA style is required.

Any inconvenience or any condition that will not enable a student to take one of the required evaluations should be discussed with the instructor before the date of the evaluation.

The following table is used to assess and evaluate presentations.

VII. Special Notes

1. Auxiliary Services or Special Needs Services

Students that require special auxiliary services or special assistance must visit the office of Mr. José Rodriguez, at the University Orientation Program located at the first floor of Harris Building, at the beginning of the course or as soon as the knowledge for the need of such services is acquired.
2. Honesty, Fraud, and plagiarism Student General Regulation, Chapter 5

The lack of honesty, fraud, plagiarism and any other inappropriate behavior in relation to the academic work constitute major infringement sanctioned under the Student General Regulation. Major infractions, as provided by the regulation under student infringements can have as a result the suspension of the University for a defined period of time greater than a year or permanent expulsion from the University, among other sanctions.

3. Use of Electronic Devices

Cellular (mobile) telephones and any other electronic device that could interrupt the teaching-learning process or disrupt a milieu favorable for academic excellence will be deactivated. Critical situations will be dealt with in an appropriate manner. The use of electronic devices that permit the accessing, storing or sending of data during tests or examinations is prohibited.

GUIDELINES FOR THE COMPSULSORY ESSAY

• Realistic and empirical research approaches.

• Backgrounds of positive research approach, and the aims and objectives of positive research approach.

• Backgrounds of realistic research approach, and the aims and objectives of normative accounting theories.

• The debate between the realists and the empiricists’ research points of views.

• The connection, if any, between the positivist, logical positivist, and empirical research philosophy and the selected research topic by students.

• Deduction versus the induction.

• Deductive-Nomological Model (D-N model) of scientific explanation in relation to the selected research topic.

• The relation between research’s approaches used in natural sciences with those used in social sciences.

• The relation to empirical evidence domination to non-empirical evidence in management field.
